WASHINGTON!

There Will Be No Tariff Legislation
During the Present Session of Congress—Other Capitol News.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Representative McMillan, one of the democratic members of the ways and means committee, is quoted as saying that he does not believe that there will be any tariff legislation during this present session of congress. He bases this opinion on the fact that the two parties are so widely divided on the subject, and that there are two or more factions in the republican party on several important schedules.

It may be possible, he says, for the republicans to force the McKinley bill through the house, but it will probably be so late in the present session that the senate will not have sufficient time to fully consider the subject.

On the other hand the republican members of the senate committee say that they will be ready to pass a bill almost as soon as they receive it from the house. Mr. Durfee, the clerk of the finance committee, is now busy with the preliminary work on the bill, and the principal schedules will likely be agreed upon in the senate committee before the bill passes the house.

In a report to Secretary Noble upon the business of his office General Raum, the commissioner of pensions, says that he will be able by the last of May to cause the examination of every claim pending in the office on the 1st day of January last, have every claim allowed that is completed, and calls for evidence made in those not completed.

Great efforts have been made to force all Indiana men in the departments to join the Indiana republican club. Two calls have also been made upon them for "boodle."

THE CHICAGO TRAGEDY.

Lizzie Starke, a Fort Wayne Girl,
Under Arrest for Poisoning a Family.

At Englewood, one of the suburbs of Chicago, on Thursday last, the family of F. W. Newland, a wealthy and retired real estate man, were poisoned by rat poison which had been administered to them, it is supposed, by a servant girl named Lizzie Starke, who formerly resided in this city.

Thursday night they sat down to supper a happy family. Before they had arisen from the table Mr. and Mrs. Newland had swallowed a dose which killed them and the two children had taken sufficient of it to endanger their lives. The physicians who were called to attend them and the police and detectives believe that there is every evidence that the poisoning was a deliberate crime.

Suspicion fastened upon Lizzie Starke and she was arrested. She had disappeared as soon as she found the family were sick, going away in a hurry and leaving the dishes unwashed. No cause for the poisoning is known and no theory can be advanced.

On arresting the girl the officer took her to the Central station, where she was subjected to a rigid examination by the chief. She stated that she was a variety actress; that her stage name was Della Foster, but that her real name was Mary Starr William Ray, the latter being her husband's name. He was, she said, a bill poster at Fort Wayne. She flatly denied having been in the employ of the Newland family. She said that she was from Fort Wayne, Ind., and had been in the city but a few days.

To a Chicago reporter she told the following story:

"I have a sister who is an exact picture of me," she said. "She is a year older than I am, but weighs 137 pounds, while I only weigh 124 pounds. My sister is on the stage and her name is Mamie Starke. She has a husband named Ed. Favorite, who is a railroad man and lives at Peoria, in this state. My stage name is Della Foster and I have a husband named Starr William Ray, in Fort Wayne, Ind. My little girl, nine years old, is with her father. She is a pretty little girl with long auburn curls. My husband is a bill poster. My sister's name is Elizabeth Isabell Morris, and mine is Della Morris. Papa died when I was a little bit of a girl. Mamma married again, and her husband's name is Henry L. Freebe. He is marshal of Tawas, Mich. We have a half brother and a half sister. I came to Chicago on the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne train a week ago Tuesday. My sister met me at the depot and took me to Ochoate's hotel, where I have been ever since. I saw my sister day before yesterday and she said she was discouraged. I asked her what was troubling her and she said that was her business. I told her to never mind; I would write to Auntie Ray, my husband's mother, and she would send me tickets to go to Fort Wayne; that she must be good and not flirt, for there are gentlemen boarders in the house and Auntie Ray would be mad if she did. My sister did not stay at the Ochoate hotel, but told me she wanted me to stay in her place, as she

there who were annoying her and I could bluff them off.

"My sister told me she was expecting a letter from the Alcazar theater, Hurley, Wis., where she had applied for work, and to get letters that might come for her. She said I could read the business letters, but I must not read letters that came from gentlemen. I got one addressed to her as Mamie Starr, from William Campbell, offering her a position in the Alcazar theater at Hurley, Wis., at a salary of $25 a week. I think that's pretty good, don't you? The police have taken that away from me. My husband came here Thursday night, and we were together all day. He went back Friday night to Fort Wayne."

The Chicago prisoner is the daughter of Frederick Starke, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, who lives at No. 6 Orchard street, in Bloomington. A year or so ago she attempted suicide by taking "rough on rats."

ST. JOHNSVILLE, N. Y., April 7.—A disastrous landslide occurred on the West Shore railroad at Diffendorf hill, a short distance east of this place about 9 o'clock last night, an immense mass of earth coming down and covering both tracks. Freight train no 76 east bound, ran into the obstruction. Engineer Potter and three other train men were buried in the debris.

A wrecking train was sent from Frankfort with a large number of men, to the scene and after several hours work, Engineer Potter was taken from the debris and resuscitated. His injuries consisted of a very badly crushed leg and several bruises on the head. Fireman Gorman was next reached and he was found to be badly injured. Two others were injured.

SHORTER HOURS!

Six Thousand Carpenters On a Strike at Chicago for a Short Day and Increased Pay.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—Between 5,000 or 6,000 carpenters are out on a strike in Chicago this morning. The strike really began at 12 o'clock last night, and when to-day dawned not a union carpenter was at work within the city limits. All had left their hammers, saws, and planes and joined the movement for a shorter day and forty cents an hour. A great many of the non-union men quit work out of sympathy with their union brethren, and it was claimed that more of them would join the carpenter's union.

Secretary Johns, of the Master Carpenters, said that so far as he could tell about all the union carpenters in the city had left their tools. "We shall not attempt to resume work with the help of the non-union men," he said, "but will wait until Thursday's meeting before doing anything decisive."

The bricklayers and stone masons have notified the strikers that they will refuse to work on jobs with non-union carpenters. Similar action is looked for on the part of the lathers, plasterers and painters.

THE MASSACHUSETTS CARPENTERS.

BOSTON, April 7.—Fully 2,500 carpenters in Massachusetts will demand that nine or eight hours constitute a day's work on and after May 1. Such was the report received at the Carpenters district council last night. Each one of the seventy-five delegates present stated that the union carpenters in the thirty-seven towns they represent were prepared to strike if the reduction be refused.

CHICAGO, April 7.—At 3:45 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in Marce's livery stable, 611 West Madison street, and an alarm was sent in to the department. The fire was rapid and for a time uncontrollable. In his efforts to save some of the horses kept in the basement, one of the hostlers, whose name could not be learned, was burned to death. About thirty horses are kept in the barn. Of this number twelve were suffocated. The building and contents were almost totally destroyed. Damages, $25,000; partially covered by insurance.

HE WAS A GREENY.

A Cute Young Woman Swindles a Bachelor Out of His Cash.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 7.—Theodore McCormack, a resident of Toledo, Ohio, has had a very sorrowful experience in the wild west. Up to three weeks ago he was a happy bachelor in very comfortable circumstances. About the middle of march he saw an advertisement in a matrimonial paper of a rich young lady, who lived at Monroe, Mich., and who wanted a husband.

He answered the advertisement, and in a short time was engaged through correspondence. He went to Monroe and met the woman. The next day they were married and left at once for the west on a wedding trip. They got along agreeably until they neared this city on their way home yesterday morning.

When they arrived at the third station west of this city the woman suddenly announced that she did not propose to go any further and in spite of her husband's protests she left the train. Before she left she scoured $200 from him, about all the money he had, which she carried away with her.

An Old Engineer's Death.

He was born in Baltimore county on September 25, 1809, of English parents. He began his railroading career January 23rd, 1833.

Silcott Not Captured.

DENVER, Col., April 7.—The various detective agencies here fail to confirm the report that Silcott had been captured in Portland. It is, however, reported that a woman whose name has been mentioned with Silcott's, passed through Denver on her way west about a month ago.

A SUDDEN DROP.

The Official Axe Severs the Connection of Conductors Gruber, Gray, Jackson and Traverse With the Pittsburg Road.

It came like a clap of thunder from a clear sky! Passenger Conductors Gruber, Gray, Jackson and Traverse, of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, were dismissed from the service of the Pennsylvania company yesterday.

The simple instructions for their dismissal came from E. A. Ford, general passenger agent, in the form of an order. Only this and nothing more.

The news of this remarkable discharge spread rapidly among the road men, who were unable to understand why these men were let out—men all but one of whom had long been in the service of the company, and who had all been esteemed as careful and faithful servants of the road.

Mr. James P. Gray has been a conductor for the company about fifteen years. His run was on the east end.

Mr. Joseph L. Gruber has been running on the east end for a long time, having been connected with the Pittsburg road for twenty-three years. He is the councilman from the Third ward.

Mr. Johnson P. Jackson has been a conductor about two years. He has an eastern run.

Mr. Pat Traverse has been in the service of the company about eight years, and had a run west.

All of them are gentlemen who are held in the highest esteem, and their friends will hear with regret of their dismissal.

Messrs. Gruber and Gray will devote their attention for the present to their hardware business on South Calhoun street. The future plans of Messrs. Jackson and Traverse are not known.

It was reported on the streets to-day that passenger conductors John P. Kane and Clifton A. Ellenwood had also been dismissed, but THE SENTINEL reporter was informed at the railroad office that the rumor was groundless.

MAINED BY RUNAWAYS.

William Waltemath and Farmers
Parker and Master Parker Injured.

Yesterday afternoon William Waltemath, a son of the Lafayette street grocer, drove out into the country and when a few miles from the city his horse became frightened at a threshing machine and ran away. Mr. Waltemath was thrown from the vehicle and suffered a fracture of an arm and received bruises on various parts of his body. Dr. W. H. Myers reduced the fracture.

Yesterday a team of colts belonging to John Parker were being driven out on the St. Joe road. When about a half mile north of the St. Joe church the animals could not be controlled. James Parker, W. M. Parker and the former's son, Charles, were thrown violently to the ground. C. H. Vining, who witnessed the accident, came to their assistance. James Parker escaped with lacerations to the flesh of both legs. W. M. Parker had his left leg fractured and Master Charles suffered internal injuries. Dr. B. Gard was called to treat the injured.

FELL DEAD.

Joseph T. Lupton Expires While Eating His Mid-day Meal.

Joseph T. Lupton, who for a number of years was employed as an engine cleaner in the Pittsburg round house, fell dead while eating dinner in the shop yesterday noon.

Death was caused from heart disease. The remains were conveyed to Peltier's and prepared for burial. The remains were taken to-day to 82 Montgomery street, where the deceased boarded.

The deceased was 68 years old and had been a widower for about ten years. A son, Patrick, is a fireman on the Richmond road, and another younger son is attending school.

Mr. Lupton was an honest and persistent toiler, and a well respected man. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residence, 82 Montgomery street.

SLICK MITCHELL.

The Man Who Operated Among Carpenters' Unions Brought to This City.

E. W. Mitchell, alias Walter Scott, alias J. B. Howard, was brought to this city from Indianapolis, to day, by the chief of police of that place, and is now in the county jail. He is wanted under charges of swindling various carpenters' unions throughout the country.

He will plead guilty in getting money under false pretenses. He was identified by D. H. Thiele and Henry Lapp, the latter being treasurer of the local union, from whom money was procured. P. J. McGuire, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Carpenters' Brotherhood, telegraphed that Mitchell defrauded unions at various places, and authorized local unions to employ legal counsel to prosecute at the expense of the national organization. The amount of money secured here was $200. The prisoner will have a hearing to-day.

PASTORS RETURNED.

The Appointments Made by the M. E. Conference for this City—Huntington Gets the Next Meeting.

MUNCIE, Ind., April 7, '90. Special to the Sentinel: The North Indiana conference of the M. E. church closed its session here to-day. The following was the assignment of ministers for Fort Wayne: Wayne street church, R. M. Barnes; Berry street, W. M. VanSlyle; St. Paul, M. C. Cooper; Trinity, N. D. Shackelford.

The next conference will meet at Huntington.

This is a return of all the old pastors, and the various Methodist congregations will welcome them back, for they have been faithful to their work and the interests of the church here will prosper under their care. THE SENTINEL is glad to see the reverend gentlemen return.

A QUIET ELECTION.

But Little Interest Being Manifested and a Light Vote Cast.

There was little interest in the township election up to 2 o'clock to-day, and a very light vote was being cast in every precinct heard from.

The victory will be an easy one for the democrats.

There was some little scratching for justices of the peace on both sides.

AN ACT OF DEMONS.

Conductor Gardner Tuckey Held a Prisoner While the Contents of a Revolver are Empty Into His Body.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Gardner J. Tuckey, a well known conductor on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, was shot down by tramps while in the discharge of his duty.

His injuries will in all probability prove fatal.

Yesterday Tuckey bid his usual affectionate good bye to his wife and little six-year-old daughter, not dreaming for a moment that he was to be made the victim of an awful tragedy before his return home, and that his family would, before many hours, be summoned to watch at his bedside as his life ebbed away.

About 4 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the third section of No. 98's east-bound through freight was pulling into the yards onto the siding at Lima, O.

Conductor Tuckey had been over to the depot for orders. Upon returning he saw five tramps clambering into a box car for the purpose of stealing a ride. Faithful to his charge, he followed them into the car. As he ordered them off, one of the tramps fired a revolver, and pushed Tuckey out of the car. The bullet did not take effect. The tramps hastily jumped from the car on the opposite side, and Tuckey followed to see that they did not board the train again. Tuckey came up and wrenched the revolver from the tallest of them.

Two of the other tramps held Tuckey by the arms, and while he was in this helpless condition, another cowardly assassin placed a revolver to his breast and fired, the bullet striking Tuckey about three inches below the collar bone on the left side of the sternum and directly over the left lung, where the ball is supposed to have lodged.

John McNamara, head brakeman, and others, assisted Tuckey to a drug store. He began to grow very weak from the loss of blood, and at the direction of Drs. Kahde and Hermann the injured man was taken to private apartments in the Burnett house.

A special train was ordered from this city to convey the wife, mother, and young daughter of the injured man to his bedside. Another train was dispatched to Elida for C. B. Stemen, the company surgeon, of this city, who was there on a professional visit.

The shooting caused the highest excitement at Lima, and several posses of citizens assisted the sheriff and officers in the search for the tramps.

Information from Lima this afternoon is to the effect that Mr. Tuckey is resting easier, but there are grave doubts as to his recovery.

Two of the tramps have been captured and one of them was identified by the wounded man as being one of the men who held him while the shooting was done.

Should Mr. Tuckey grow stronger he will be brought to his home, 306 Hanna street, this city.

TOWNSHIP REPUBLICANS.

The Ticket Which Will Be Snowed Under To-day.

The convention of the republicans of Wayne township, held Saturday night at the circuit court room, was a quiet affair, and in view of the fact that the ticket which it nominated is probably snowed under, even at this writing, 11:30 a. m., and will be buried still deeper and out of sight when the polls close, no extended mention of its proceedings is necessary.

When the convention was called to order there were less than a half hundred present and part of these were democratic spectators and small boys. The small boys did not find enough interest in the proceedings to remain and when City Editor Mohler entered they left the room.

TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Election of officers.
ATHLETIC CLUB—Monthly meeting.
LODGES—Phoenix, 101, K. of P.—Fort Wayne No. 14, I. O. O. F.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Congregational meeting.
WORLD'S MUSEUM—Boyton's educated seals and other attractions.

The township elections are passing off quietly to-day.

The Easter services in the city churches yesterday were of an interesting character.

A LARGELY attended boys' meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Baptist church.

The Business Men's Guide, conducted by Clarence Smith, appeared Saturday. It has an excellent edition and contained a large map of the city's new addition—Lakeside.

The Farmers' alliance held a meeting in this city Saturday at the Knights of Labor hall and all the townships were represented. A resolution was passed favoring the organization of a state alliance and the secretary was instructed to correspond with the senators and representatives in congress urging the passage of an anti-trust bill, and against dealing in options and futures.

The meeting also adopted a resolution pledging the members not to support any candidate for the legislature who is not in favor of reducing the fees and salaries of county officers. The alliance adjourned to meet the first Saturday in May.

"FORT WAYNE merchants may learn a profitable lesson or two in advertising from Manager James Geary of the World's Museum, says the Business Men's Guide. When he leased the Academy of Music the place was without reputation as a successful show-house and previous occupants had even failed to make enough money to pay the rent, but Mr. Geary, through methods of advertising both original and extremely ingenious has turned the place into a veritable mint. Such men succeed, while others who buy large stocks and expect customers to find it out in their own way and in their own time too often wonder why they are crowded to the wall."

REV. E. A. MAHIN.

In the excellent account of the proceedings of the North Indiana conference which the Muncie Daily Herald gave its readers, is the following biography of Rev. E. A. Mahin, of this city:

Rev. E. A. Mahin, the presiding elder of the Fort Wayne district, was born in White County, Ind., October 18, 1843. His early life was spent on the farm. He was converted and united with the M. E. church in the fall of 1859 at the age of sixteen. He was early called to the ministry but stoutly resisted it until after his conversion. When after a severe and prolonged mental conflict, he yielded to his convictions and started for the Battle Ground institute to prepare himself for his life work.

"He was licensed to preach in the fall of 1868 by the venerable Richard Hargrave, one of the eloquent pioneer preachers of Indiana. He was received into the North Indiana conference in the spring of 1869 and was appointed to the Wawaka circuit. He has spent four years in circuit work and fifteen in station work and two years on the Fort Wayne district.

"Brother Mahin is an able preacher, always keeping abreast of the times on all the leading questions of the day. under the big head of "A Terrible Tragedy. Two Huntington County Farmers Brutally Murdered and Their Bodies Burned up with a Barn." It is also marked "Special to the Journal." Now, we always thought the Journal was a good, truthful paper, but this shakes our confidence in it. If it desires another good "special" we would respectfully refer its telegraph editor, Bro. Scissors, to a column article in the Cincinnati Enquirer of the same day, headed "A Narrow Escape."

THE STRANGER MANIAC!

Jan. H. Conway, of Milwaukee, Tells His Sad Story of Reason De-throned to a Sentinel Reporter.

"A Stranger Maniac!" Such was the heading of an article of local news which appeared in THE SENTINEL a week ago last Saturday.

It gave an account of the arrest of a stranger on our streets by the police and his confinement in the county jail for insanity.

He had been found wandering aimlessly about acting in a strange manner, and when Officer Stalhut took him in charge, he discovered that the man was a maniac.

He took his prisoner to the police station, and after the man had been locked up, he became violent, and in his madness dashed himself violently against the iron bars of his cell.

He remained there until morning, making the night hideous with his shrieks, when he was turned over to the sheriff and placed in the county jail, until he should recover from his unfortunate condition.

He remained in jail until Saturday morning, when, as has already been stated in THE SENTINEL's local columns, he was set at liberty. THE SENTINEL's reporter met the unfortunate man not long after his release from the county jail. He had come to the office for the purpose of consulting us as to the best manner of reaching his home, in his then penniless condition, and frankly told us, with the privilege of using it if we so desired, his sad story.

"I am the stranger maniac you spoke of in your paper," he had said as he entered. "Do I look like a mad man?"

The writer looked up from his work, somewhat startled at the man's strange words. Had he come on an evil mission? Had he come to do us harm for what had been said of him in the paper? Mad men stop at nothing, and naturally enough we turned our head towards our telegraph editor, sitting at the other side of the room, as if he, in the emergency of an assault, might protect us from the maniac's fury.

"Do I look like a mad man?" the stranger repeated.

Looking again we saw something strange about the man's appearance and actions. His clothes were worn and soiled. They were fine broadcloth, but dirt covered them in various places and time and long use had left their imprint upon almost every fabric. His eyes had a sort of vacant stare, but his face was an uncommonly intelligent one and bore every evidence that the man had seen better days and pursued some kind of intellectual work. Seeing that he meant no harm, the stranger was bidden to be seated, and by repeated questions we drew from him his sad story.

"My name is James H. Conway," he said in substance, "and my home is Milwaukee, Wis. On St. Patrick's day I was out with several of my friends at Milwaukee. We visited a number of saloons and I remember going home late at night in an intoxicated condition. I remember handing to my wife several valuable contracts which I had in my pocket. I remember, rather indistinctly, getting up the next morning and going to my office. After that, and up until I awoke in your county jail the morning after my arrest, my movements are as much of a blank to me as though I had been dead. How I got from Milwaukee to Fort Wayne I can't comprehend. I must have been robbed for what money I had in my pockets is gone. They said I was insane. I must have been, but I have recovered my reason now and understand thoroughly what I am about. I want to get back to my home in Milwaukee; I have a wife and two children there."

"No," he said, "I have no objection to telling you what my business in Milwaukee is, but for several reasons I had rather you would not mention it in your paper," (and then Mr. Conway unfolded to the writer the nature of his business at Milwaukee, which was of a literary character). "Yes, drink," he continued in reply to a question, "has been my besetting sin. It has ruined me and brought me to this disgrace."

"I need to be in the newspaper business. I was connected at one time, in an editorial capacity, with the Boston

Daily News, later with the Philadelphia Times, then with Cincinnati papers, and afterward with the Chicago Daily Herald, and any of my former employers will tell you that few men know how to handle the reportorial pencil in a better way than I did. But drink! the monster drink was the evil genius that lured me on to what I am to-day. The love of rum ruined all and lost me one position after another. I thought at first that it was my slave and that I could use it as a plaything for my own pleasure, but it became my master. I knew the power it had over me, but I could not shake it off. I have kept at my work for days with six, eight, ten or more glasses of whisky in me, and few persons knew from my actions that I was under its influence until the break came and laid me up in bed to recover from a protracted spree.

"When I went to Milwaukee the demon followed me. I pursued there the quiet literary work of which I have told you, and if I had been permitted to finish it, it would have brought me in a handsome sum of money, but the old habit reasserted itself and I went down again.

"My last spree left me in a worse condition than I have ever been. Reason dethroned for a time, with disgrace to myself and family, and with death staring me in the face at every step ought to be enough to reform any man. It has reformed me. I have drunk my last glass."

This was the story of the stranger maniac. Whether true or false in detail we know not, but that his life has been wrecked by rum there is no doubt. He had brilliant talents that would have fitted him for the newspaper positions of which he spoke, and had they been properly used, he might have been a man among men.

It is said his dissipated habits in Milwaukee have made him a notorious character there and that his family do not desire his return. Unless he reforms, he has probably drifted into that great army of tramps, who, in reviewing their past and contemplating their future can echo, with the sad truth ever haunting them, the words of the poet:

"It might have been."

George Kennan.

The name of George Kennan in connection with Siberia and its barbarous exile system has become as familiar as the name of Stanley with the dark continent.

On the 7th of last January a small but very intelligent audience listened to him on "An East Siberian Convict Mine," in the City Y. M. C. hall.

By an especial good fortune he has been secured to appear at the same place on Friday evening, April 11th, in his 150th lecture this season, the subject being "The Mountains and Mountaineers of the Caucasuses."

• • • • IN THE SPRING MONTHS • • • •

Nature should be assisted when the system is changing from the full habit of the winter months to the lighter diet of the warm season. Nothing does this as well as S. S. S. It stimulates the sluggish blood and aids the system of heaviness and the feeling of languor. If there is poison in the blood, it generally shows itself in the spring, and this is the season to help nature to drive it out and be cured.

Beautifies the skin and makes the complexion rosy and healthy. Gives elasticity to the step and buoyant spirits. Makes the feeble and delicate strong and robust. Is a tonic to the whole body and increases vitality. Is a simple vegetable medicine, harmless to the most delicate, yet so powerful as to cleanse the system of all impurities.

WASHINGTON!

There Will Be No Tariff Legislation During the Present Session of Congress—Other Capitol News.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Representative McMillan, one of the democratic members of the ways and means committee, is quoted as saying that he does not believe that there will be any tariff legislation during this present session of congress. He bases this opinion on the fact that the two parties are so widely divided on the subject, and that there are two or more factions in the republican party on several important schedules.

It may be possible, he says, for the republicans to force the McKinley bill through the house, but it will probably be so late in the present session that the senate will not have sufficient time to fully consider the subject.

On the other hand the republican members of the senate committee say that they will be ready to pass a bill almost as soon as they receive it from the house. Mr. Durfee, the clerk of the finance committee, is now busy with the preliminary work on the bill, and the principal schedules will likely be agreed upon in the senate committee before the bill passes the house.

In a report to Secretary Noble upon the business of his office General Baum, the commissioner of pensions, says that he will be able by the last of May to cause the examination of every claim pending in the office on the 1st day of January last, have every claim allowed that is completed, and calls for evidence made in those not completed.

Great efforts have been made to force all Indians men in the departments to join the Indian republican club. Two calls have also been made upon them for "boodle."

THE CHICAGO TRAGEDY.

Lizzie Starke, a Fort Wayne Girl, Under Arrest for Poisoning a Family.

At Englewood, one of the suburbs of Chicago, on Thursday last, the family of F. W. Nowland, a wealthy and retired real estate man, were poisoned by rat poison which had been administered to them, it is supposed, by a servant girl named Lizzie Starke, who formerly resided in this city.

Thursday night they set down to supper a happy family. Before they had arisen from the table Mr. and Mrs. Nowland had swallowed a dose which killed them and the two children had taken sufficient of it to endanger their lives. The physicians who were called to attend them and the police and detectives believe that there is every evidence that the poisoning was a deliberate crime.

Suspicion fastened upon Lizzie Starke and she was arrested. She had disappeared as soon as she found the family were sick, going away in a hurry and leaving the dishes unwashed. No cause for the poisoning is known and no theory can be advanced.

On arresting the girl the officer took her to the Central station, where she was subjected to a rigid examination by the chief. She stated that she was a variety actress; that her stage name was Della Foster, but that her real name was Mary Starr William Ray, the latter being her husband's name. He was, she said, a bill poster at Fort Wayne. She flatly denied having been in the employ of the Nowland family. She said that she was from Fort Wayne, Ind., and had been in the city but a few days.

To a Chicago reporter she told the following story:

"I have a sister who is an exact picture of me," she said. "She is a year older than I am, but weighs 137 pounds, while I only weigh 124 pounds. My sister is on the stage and her name is Mamie Starke. She has a husband named Ed. Favorite, who is a railroad man and lives at Peoria, in this state. My stage name is Della Foster and I have a husband named Starr William Ray, in Fort Wayne, Ind. My little girl, nine years old, is with her father. She is a pretty little girl with long auburn curls. My husband is a bill poster. My sister's name is Elizabeth Isabell Morris, and mine is Della Morris. Papa died when I was a little bit of a girl. Mama married again, and her husband's name is Henry L. Freebe. He is marshal of Tawas, Mich. We have a half brother and a half sister. I came to Chicago on the 2nd of the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne train a week ago Tuesday. My sister met me at the depot and took me to Choate's hotel, where I have been ever since. I saw my sister day before yesterday and she said she was discouraged. I asked her what was troubling her and she said that was her business. I told her to never mind; I would write to Auntie Ray, my husband's mother, and she would send us tickets to go to Fort Wayne; that she must be good and not flirt, for there are gentlemen boarders in the house and Auntie Ray would be mad if she did. My sister did not stay at the Choate hotel, but told me she wanted me to stay in her place, as the men at the hotel would not know the difference, and there were a lot of men

there who were annoying her and I could bluff them off.

"My sister told me she was expecting a letter from the Alcazar theater, Hurley, Wis., where she had applied for work, and to get letters that might come for her. She said I could read the business letters, but I must not read letters that came from gentlemen. I got one addressed to her as Mamie Starr, from William Campbell, offering her a position in the Alcazar theater at Hurley, Wis., at a salary of $25 a week. I think that's pretty good, don't you? The police have taken that away from me. My husband came here Thursday night, and we were together all day. He went back Friday night to Fort Wayne."

The Chicago prisoner is the daughter of Frederick Starke, of the Pittsburgh blacksmith shop, who lives at No. 6 Orchard street, in Bloomingdale. A year or so ago she attempted suicide by taking "rough on rats."

SHORTER HOURS!

Six Thousand Carpenters On a Strike at Chicago for a Short Day and Increased Pay.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—Between 5,000 or 6,000 carpenters are out on a strike in Chicago this morning. The strike really began at 12 o'clock last night, and when today dawned not a union carpenter was at work within the city limits. All had left their hammers, saws, and planes and joined the movement for a shorter day and forty cents an hour. A great many of the non-union men quit work out of sympathy with their union brethren, and it was claimed that more of them would join the carpenter's union.

Secretary Johns, of the Master Carpenters, said that so far as he could tell about all the union carpenters in the city had left their tools. "We shall not attempt to resume work with the help of the non-union men," he said, "but will wait until Thursday's meeting before doing anything decisive."

The bricklayers and stone masons have notified the strikers that they will refuse to work on jobs with non-union carpenters. Similar action is looked for on the part of the lathers, plasterers and painters.

A Cute Young Woman Swindles a Bachelor Out of His Cash.

St. JOSEPH, Mo., April 7.—Theodore McCormack, a resident of Toledo, Ohio, has had a very sorrowful experience in the wild west. Up to three weeks ago he was a happy bachelor in very comfortable circumstances. About the middle of March he saw an advertisement in a metropolitan paper of a rich young lady, who lived at Monroe, Mich., and who wanted a husband.

He answered the advertisement, and in a short time was engaged through correspondence. He went to Monroe and met the woman. The next day they were married and left at once for the west on a wedding trip. They got along agreeably until they reached this city on their way home yesterday morning.

When they arrived at the third station west of this city the woman suddenly announced that she did not intend to go any further and in spite of her husband's protests she left the train. Before she left she secured $200 from him, about all the money he had, which she carried away with her.

A SUDDEN DROP.

The Official Ave Severs the Connection of Conductors Gruber, Gray, Jackson and Traverse With the Pittsburg Road.

It came like a clap of thunder from a clear sky.

Passenger Conductors Gruber, Gray, Jackson and Traverse, of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, were dismissed from the service of the Pennsylvania company yesterday.

The simple instructions for their dismissal came from E. A. Ford, general passenger agent, in the form of an order. Only this and nothing more.

The news of this remarkable discharge spread rapidly among the road men, who were unable to understand why these men were let out—men all but one of whom had long been in the service of the company, and who had all been esteemed as careful and faithful servants of the road.

Mr. James P. Gray has been a conductor for the company about fifteen years. His run was on the east end.

Mr. Joseph L. Gruber has been running on the east end for a long time, having been connected with the Pittsburg road for twenty-three years. He is the councilman from the Third ward.

Mr. Johnson P. Jackson has been a conductor about two years. He has an eastern run.

Mr. Pat Traverse has been in the service of the company about eight years, and had a run west.

All of them are gentlemen who are held in the highest esteem, and their friends will hear with regret of their dismissal.

Messrs. Gruber and Gray will devote their attention for the present to their hardware business on South Calhoun street. The future plans of Messrs. Jackson and Traverse are not known. It was reported on the streets to-day that passenger conductors John P. Kane and Clifton A. Ellenwood had also been dismissed, but THE SENTINEL reporter was informed at the railroad office that the rumor was groundless.

MALTED BY RUNAWAYS.

William Wattenmuth and Farmer Parker and Master Parker Injured.

Yesterday afternoon William Wattenmuth, a son of the Lafayette street grocer, drove out into the country and when a few miles from the city his horse became frightened at a threshing machine and ran away. Mr. Wattenmuth was thrown from the vehicle and suffered a fracture of an arm and received bruises on various parts of his body. Dr. W. H. Myers reduced the fracture.

Yesterday a team of colts belonging to John Parker were being driven out the St. Joe road. When about a half mile north of the St. Joe church the animals could not be controlled. They ran away and upset the wagon. James Parker, W. M. Parker and the former's son, Charles, were thrown violently to the ground. C. H. Vining, who witnessed the accident, came to their assistance. James Parker escaped with lacerations to the flesh of both legs. W. M. Parker had his left leg fractured and Master Charles suffered internal injuries. Dr. B. Gard was called to treat the injured.

Death was caused from heart disease. The remains were conveyed to Peltier's and prepared for burial. The remains were taken to-day to 82 Montgomery street, where the deceased boarded.

The deceased was 68 years old and had been a widower for about ten years. A son, Patrick, is a fireman on the Richmond road, and another younger son is attending school.

Mr. Lupton was an honest and peevish fellow, and a well respected man. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residence, 82 Montgomery street.

SLICK MITCHELL.

The Man Who Operated Among Carpenters' Unions Brought to This City.

E. W. Mitchell, alias Walter Scott, alias J. B. Howard, was brought to this city from Indianapolis, to day, by the chief of police of that place, and is now in the county jail. He is wanted under charges of swindling various carpenters' unions throughout the country.

He will plead guilty in getting money under false pretenses. He was identified by D. H. Thiele and Henry Lapp, the latter being treasurer of the local union, from whom money was procured. P. J. McGuire, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Carpenters' Brotherhood, telegraphed that Mitchell defrauded unions at various places, and authorized local unions to employ legal counsel to prosecute, at the expense of the national organization. The amount of money secured here was $20.

The prisoner will have a hearing before Squire France.

AN ACT OF DEMONS.

Conductor Gardner Tuckey Held a Prisoner While the Contents of a Revolver are Empty Into His Body.

About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Gardner J. Tuckey, a well known conductor on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, was shot down by tramps while in the discharge of his duty.

His injuries will in all probability prove fatal.

Yesterday Tuckey did his usual affectionate good bye to his wife and little six-year old daughter, not dreaming for a moment that he was to be made the victim of an awful tragedy before his return home, and that his family would, before many hours, be summoned to watch at his bedside as his life ebbed away.

About 4 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the third section of No. 98's east-bound through freight was pulling into the yards onto the siding at Lima, O.

Conductor Tuckey had been over to the depot for orders. Upon returning he saw five tramps clambering into a box car for the purpose of stealing a ride. Faithful to his charge, he followed them into the car. As he ordered them off, one of the tramps fired a revolver, and pushed Tuckey out of the car. The bullet did not take effect. The tramps hastily jumped from the car on the opposite side, and Tuckey followed to see that they did not board the train again. Tuckey came up and wrenched the revolver from the tallest of them.

Two of the other tramps held Tuckey by the arms, and while he was in this helpless condition, another cowardly assassin placed a revolver to his breast and fired, the bullet striking Tuckey about three inches below the collar bone on the left side of the sternum and directly over the left lung, where the ball is supposed to have lodged.

John McNamara, head brakeman, and others, assisted Tuckey to a drug store. He began to grow very weak from the loss of blood, and at the direction of Drs. Kahle and Hermann the injured man was taken to private apartments in a special train.

A special train was ordered from this city to convey the wife, mother, and young daughter of the injured man to his bedside. Another train was dispatched to Elide for C. B. Stemen, the company surgeon, of this city, who was there on a professional visit.

The shooting caused the highest excitement at Lima, and several posses of citizens assisted the sheriff and officers in the search for the tramps.

Information from Lima this afternoon is to the effect that Mr. Tuckey is resting easier, but there are grave doubts as to his recovery.

Two of the tramps have been captured and one of them was identified by the wounded man as being one of the men who held him while the shooting was done.

Should Mr. Tuckey grow stronger he will be brought to his home, 396 Hanna street, this city.

TOWNSHIP REPUBLICANS.

The Ticket Which Will Be Showed Under To-Day.

The convention of the republicans of Wayne township, held Saturday night at the circuit court room, was a quiet affair, and in view of the fact that the ticket which it nominated is probably snowed under, even at this writing, 11:30 a. m., and will be buried still deeper and out of sight when the polls close, no extended mention of its proceedings is necessary.

When the convention was called to order there were less than a half hundred present and part of these were democratic spectators and small boys. The small boys did not find enough interest in the proceedings to remain and when City Editor Mohler entered they left the room.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. J. W. Hayden, with Mr. E. H. Bookwalter at the secretary's table. There were two candidates for trustee: Homer Hild and G. W. Morgan, and Mr. Hild was chosen. For township assessor George Motz was nominated. The meeting went on smoothly enough up to this time, but when it came to the nomination for the other offices it was difficult to find men enough to fill them, but after repeated declinations the ticket was finished as follows: Justices of the peace, Chester Senclet, II. H. Rossler, P. L. Potter, Hans Newell and J. H. Tibballe; constables, John Harrigan, Jacob Gindlesberger, G. W. Brower, L. J. Baldwin and C. J. Drummond; supervisors, P. J. Baker, A. H. Barthold, John Doubly, John Orchard and J. B. Downing.

Nature should be assisted when the system is changing from the full habit of the winter months to the lighter diet of the warm season. Nothing does this as well as S. S. S. It stimulates the sluggish blood and aids the system of heavy-laden and the feeling of languor. If there is poison in the blood, it generally shows itself in the spring, and this is the season to help nature to drive it out and be cured.

WASHINGTON!

There Will Be No Tariff Legislation During the Present Session of Congress—Other Capital News.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Representative McMillan, one of the democratic members of the ways and means committee, is quoted as saying that he does not believe that there will be any tariff legislation during this present session of congress. He bases this opinion on the fact that the two parties are so widely divided on the subject, and that there are two or more factions in the republican party on several important subjects.

It may be possible, he says, for the republicans to force the McKinley bill through the house, but it will probably be so late in the present session that the senate will not have sufficient time to fully consider the subject.

On the other hand the republican members of the senate committee say that they will be ready to pass a bill almost as soon as they receive it from the house. Mr. Durfee, the clerk of the finance committee, is now busy with the preliminary work on the bill, and the principal schedules will likely be agreed upon in the senate committee before the bill passes the house.

In a report to Secretary Noble upon the business of his office General Ramo, the commissioner of pensions, says that he will be able by the last of May to cause the examination of every claim pending in the office on the 1st day of January last, have every claim allowed that is completed, and make for evidence made in those not completed.

Great efforts have been made to force all Indian men in the department to join the Indian republican club. Two calls have also been made upon them for "boodle."

THE CHICAGO TRAGEDY.

Lizzie Starke, a Fort Wayne Girl, Under Arrest for Poisoning a Family.

At Englewood, one of the suburbs of Chicago, on Thursday last, the family of E. W. Rowland, a wealthy and retired real estate man, were poisoned by rat poison which had been administered to them. It is supposed, by a servant girl named Lizzie Starke, who formerly resided in this city.

Thursday night they sat down to supper a happy family. Before they had arisen from the table Mr. and Mrs. Rowland had swallowed a dose which killed them and the two children had taken sufficient of it to endanger their lives. The physicians who were called to attend them, and the police and detectives believe that there is every evidence that the poisoning was a deliberate crime.

Suspicion fastened upon Lizzie Starke and she was arrested. She had disappeared as soon as she found the family were sick, going away in a hurry and leaving the dishes unwashed. No cause for the poisoning is known and no theory can be advanced.

On arriving the girl the officer took her to the Central station, where she was subjected to a rigid examination by the chief. She stated that she was a variety actress; that her stage name was Della Foster, but that her real name was Mary Starr William Ray, the latter being her husband's name. He was, she said, a bill poster at Fort Wayne. She had recently having been in the employ of the Rowland family. She said that she was from Fort Wayne, Ind., and had been in the city but a few days.

To a Chicago reporter she told the following story:

"I have a sister who is an exact picture of me," she said. "She is a year older than I am, but weighs 137 pounds, while I only weigh 124 pounds. My sister is on the stage and her name is Mamie Starke. She has a husband named Ed. Favorite, who is a railroad man and lives at Peoria, in this state. My stage name is Della Foster and I have a husband named Starr William Ray, in Fort Wayne, Ind. My little girl, nine years old, is with her father. She is a pretty little girl with long auburn curls. My husband is a bill poster. My sister's name is Elizabeth Isabel Morris, and mine is Della Morris. Papa died when I was a little bit of a girl. Mamie married again, and her husband's name is Henry L. Freebe. He is a marshal of Texas, Mich. We have a half brother and a half sister. I came to Chicago on the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne train a week ago Tuesday. My sister met me at the depot and took me to Charles's hotel, where I have been ever since. I saw my sister day before yesterday and she said she was discouraged. I asked her what was troubling her and she said that was her business. I told her to never mind; I would write to Auntie Ray, my husband's mother, and she would send me tickets to go to Fort Wayne; that she must be good and not stir, for there are gentlemen boarders in the house and Auntie Ray would be mad if she did. My sister did not stay at the Charles hotel, but told me she wanted me to stay in her place, as the men at the hotel would not know the difference, and there were a lot of men there who were annoying her and I could beat them off.

"My sister told me she was expecting a letter from the Messer theater, Hurley, Wis., where she had applied for work, and to get letters that might come for her. She said I could read the business letters, but I must not read letters that came from gentlemen. I got one addressed to her as Annie Starr, from William Campbell, offering her a position in the Alcazar theater at Hurley, Wis., at a salary of $25 a week. I think that's pretty good, don't you? The police have taken that away from me. My husband came here Thursday night, and we were together all day. We went back Friday night to Fort Wayne."

The Chicago prisoner is the daughter of Frederick Starke, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, who lives at No. 4 Orchard street, in Bloomington. A year or so ago she attempted suicide by taking "rough on rats."

HEIR TO A FORTUNE.

The Son of the Mountain Money King Wants His Share—Other Telegrams.

SAN FRANCISCO, Mass., April 7.—An illegitimate son of Judge A. J. Davis, the Mountain money king who died at Butte City, without leaving a will, has put in a claim to his $12,000,000 worth of property. Heirs in this city have sent Judge O'Connell to Montana to represent them, and heirs in New York City have also employed distinguished legal talent to go out in their interests.

SAN DIEGO, April 7.—Col. John Van Arman, formerly a prominent lawyer of Chicago, died here at 4 o'clock, yesterday morning, of nervous prostration. He was born in Pittsburg, N. Y., March 3, 1820.

MONTREAL, Que., April 7.—At a meeting of the council of McGill university recently it was announced that donations aggregating $1,000,000 had been made on the arts, sciences, and law faculties. Of this W. A. McDonald, a large tobacco manufacturer, has given $500,000, and Sir Donald A. Smith, president of the Bank of Montreal, $800,000.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Marcus C. Stearns, who attempted to commit suicide Saturday at his Michigan avenue residence, was feeling more easily last night. The physicians said the symptoms were all favorable and he might recover.

LANSING, Mich., April 7.—A monster demonstration in the shape of a public reception to John Dillon, M. P., was held at the Pinks opera house yesterday afternoon, presided over by the Hon. R. B. Graham, mayor of the city. SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 7.—Thirteen Chinese were arrested Saturday night in an attempt to cross the line between Mexico and the United States at Lina. They had come overland from Escondido, in Lower California, and no thought to be part of the eighty-seven taken there on the last trip of the steamer Newburn from San Francisco. They were transported to that vessel from a steamer from China.

St. JOHNSVILLE, N. Y., April 7.—A disastrous landslide occurred on the West Shore railroad at Villaville hill, a short distance east of this place about 9 o'clock last night, an immense mass of earth coming down and covering both tracks. Freight train no. 76 east bound, ran into the obstruction. Engineer Potter and three other train men were buried in the debris.

A wrecking train was sent from Frankfort with a large number of men, to the scene and after several hours work, Engineer Potter was taken from the debris and resuscitated. His injuries consisted of a very badly crushed leg and several bruises on the head. Fireman Gorman was next reached and he was found to be badly injured. Two others were injured.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 5.—About seventy negroes, men, women and children, arrived at Donalds station, from Halifax county, N. C., yesterday, to go to work in the mines of W. N. Reed & Co. The firm will provide houses for them and pay them at the start from $1 to $1.50 per day. Miners say that that will be less than the scale rate of seventy-five cents per ton.

QUINCY, Ill., April 5.—A prominent prohibitionist has figured out the increased per cent. of the vote cast at the recent election over the one a year ago and finds that in this city the prohibitionists gained 46 per cent. over the last election and 56 per cent. over the last presidential election. It is figured if this increase of votes all over the state was as much in comparison as the increase here, at the next election the prohibitionists will poll 33,333 votes in the state.

HARTFORD, W. Va., April 5.—Prof. Cyrus, principal of the schools in this city was about to punish a boy named Ernest Welch for misbehavior yesterday when Welch drew a knife and stabbed Cyrus in six places in the arm, chest and back. Cyrus' injuries are very serious.

Set on Fire.

NEW YORK, April 7.—A large unoccupied frame dwelling on the old town road, in Southfield, was burned this morning. Loss, $5,000. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

SHORTER HOURS!

Six Thousand Carpenters On a Strike at Chicago for a Short Day and Increased Pay.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—Between 5,000 or 6,000 carpenters are out on a strike in Chicago this morning. The strike really began at 12 o'clock last night, and when it dawned not a union carpenter was at work within the city limits. All had left their hammers, saws, and planes and joined the movement for a shorter day and forty cents an hour. A great many of the non-union men quit work out of sympathy with their union brethren, and it was claimed that more of them would join the carpenter's union.

Secretary Johns, of the Master Carpenters, said that so far as he could tell about all the union carpenters in the city had left their tools. "We shall not attempt to resume work with the help of the non-union men," he said, "but will wait until Thursday's meeting before doing anything decisive."

The bricklayers and stone masons have notified the strikers that they will refuse to work on jobs with non-union carpenters. Similar action is looked for on the part of the lathers, plasterers and painters.

THE MARRIAGES OF THE CARPENTERS.

BOSTON, April 7.—Fully 2,000 carpenters in Massachusetts will demand that nine or eight hours constitute a day's work on and after May 1. Such was the report received at the Carpenter's district council last night. Each one of the seventy-five delegates present stated that the union carpenters in the thirty-seven towns they represent were prepared to strike if the reduction be refused.

THE FIRE DEMOS.

Its Work at Several Points—Burned to Death.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 7.—The Northwestern Milwaukee iron company's plant, which occupies an area of two and a half acres and employs 225 men, was damaged to the extent of $15,000 at 3 o'clock this morning. The plant was valued at $90,000, on which there was $30,000 insurance.

CHICAGO, April 7.—At 3:45 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in Mamie's livery stable, 611 West Madison street, and an alarm was sent in to the department. The fire was rapid and for a time uncontrollable. In his efforts to save some of the horses kept in the basement, one of the hostlers, whose name could not be learned, was burned to death. About thirty horses are kept in the barn. Of this number twelve were suffocated. The building and contents were almost totally destroyed. Damages, $25,000; partially covered by insurance.

HE WAS A GREENY.

A Cute Young Woman Swindles a Bachelor Out of His Cash.

St. JOHNS, Mo., April 7.—Theodore McCormack, a resident of Toledo, Ohio, has had a very sorrowful experience in the west. Up to three weeks ago he was a happy bachelor in very comfortable circumstances. About the middle of March he saw an advertisement in a metropolitan paper of a rich young lady, who lived at Monroe, Mich., and who wanted a husband.

He answered the advertisement, and in a short time was engaged through correspondence. He went to Monroe and met the woman. The next day they were married and left at once for the west on a wedding trip. They got along agreeably until they reached this city on their way home yesterday morning.

When they arrived at the third station west of this city the woman suddenly announced that she did not propose to go any further and in spite of her husband's protests she left the train. Before she left she secured $200 from him, about all the money he had, which she carried away with her.

An Old Engineer's Death.

BALTIMORE, April 7.—William Gallows, who ran the first engine over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and who was probably the oldest locomotive engineer in the world, died suddenly of apoplexy to-day. He was born in Baltimore county on September 25, 1829, of English parents. He began his rail road career January 24th, 1853.

Silcott Not Captured.

DETROIT, Mich., April 7.—The various detective agencies here fail to confirm the report that Silcott had been captured in Portland. It is, however, reported that a woman whose name has been mentioned with Silcott's, passed through Denver on her way west about a month ago.

A SUDDEN DROP.

The Official Ave Service the Commencement of Conductors' Gravel, Gray, Jackson and Ten-verse With the Pittsburg Road.

It came like a clap of thunder from a cloud sky.

Passenger Conductors Gruber, Gray, Jackson and Traverser, of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, were dismissed from the service of the Pennsylvania company yesterday.

The simple instructions for their dismissal came from E. A. Ford, general passenger agent, in the form of an order. Only this and nothing more.

The news of this remarkable discharge spread rapidly among the road men, who were unable to understand why these men were let out—men all but one of whom had long been in the service of the company, and who had all been esteemed as careful and faithful servants of the road.

Mr. James P. Gray has been a conductor for the company about fifteen years. His run was on the east end.

Mr. Joseph L. Gruber has been running on the east end for a long time, having been connected with the Pittsburg road for twenty-three years. He is the conductorman from the Third ward.

Mr. Johnson P. Jackson has been a conductor about two years. He has no eastern run.

Mr. Pat Traverser has been in the service of the company about eight years, and had a run west.

All of them are gentlemen who are held in the highest esteem, and their friends will hear with regret of their dismissal.

Messrs. Gruber and Gray will devote their attention for the present to their hardware business on South Calhoun street. The future plans of Messrs. Jackson and Traverser are not known.

It was reported on the streets to-day that passenger conductors John P. Kane and Clifford A. Ellenwood had also been dismissed, but THE SENTINEL reporter was informed at the railroad office that the rumor was groundless.

MAILED BY RUNAWAYS.

William Wattenhuth and Farmers Parker and Master Tucker Injured.

Yesterday afternoon William Wattenhuth, a son of the Lafayette street grocer, drove out into the country and when a few miles from the city his horse became frightened at a thrashing machine and ran away. Mr. Wattenhuth was thrown from the vehicle and suffered a fracture of an arm and received bruises on various parts of his body. Dr. W. H. Myers reduced the fracture.

Yesterday a team of colts belonging to John Parker were being driven out to the St. Joe road. When about a half mile north of the St. Joe church the animals could not be controlled. They ran away and upset the wagon. James Parker, W. M. Parker and the former's son, Charles, were thrown violently to the ground. G. H. Vining, who witnessed the accident, came to their assistance. James Parker escaped with lacerations to the flesh of both legs. W. M. Parker had his left leg fractured and Master Charles suffered internal injuries. Dr. B. Card was called to treat the injured.

FELL DEAD.

Joseph T. Lupton Expires While Eating His Mid-day Meal.

Joseph T. Lupton, who for a number of years was employed as an engine cleaner in the Pittsburg round house, fell dead while eating dinner in the shop yesterday noon.

Death was caused from heart disease. The remains were conveyed to Feltner's and prepared for burial. The remains were taken to-day to St. Montgomerie street, where the deceased was buried.

The deceased was 68 years old and had been a widower for about ten years. A son, Patrick, is a fireman on the Richmond road, and another younger son is attending school.

Mr. Lupton was an honest and persistent toiler, and a well respected man. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residence, 82 Montgomery street.

SUCK BITCHERS.

The Man Who Operated Among Carpenters' Unions Brought to This City.

E. W. Mitchell, alias Walter Scott, alias J. B. Howard, was brought to this city from Indianapolis, to-day, by the chief of police of that place, and is now in the county jail. He is wanted under charges of swindling various carpenters' unions throughout the country.

He will plead guilty in getting money under false pretenses. He was identified by D. R. Thiele and Henry Lapp, the latter being treasurer of the local union, from whom money was procured.

P. J. McGuire, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Carpenters' Brotherhood, telegraphed that Mitchell defrauded unions at various places, and authorized local unions to employ legal counsel to prosecute, at the expense of the national organization. The amount of money secured here was $20. The prisoner will have a hearing before Squire France.

PASTORS RETURNED.

The Appointments Made by the M. E. Conference for this City—Huntington Gets the Next Meeting.

Mason, Ind., April 7, '90.

The North Indiana conference of the M. E. church closed its session here to-day. The following was the assignment of ministers for Fort Wayne: Wayne street church, J. M. Burns; Berry street, W. M. VanStyle; St. Paul, M. C. Cooper; Trinity, N. D. Shinkel-ford.

The next conference will meet at Huntington.

This is a return of all the old pastors, and the various Methodist congregations will welcome them back, for they have been faithful to their work and the interests of the church here will prosper under their care. THE SENTINEL is glad to see the reverend gentlemen return.

A QUIET ELECTION.

But Little Interest Being Manifested and a Light Vote Cast.

There was little interest in the township election up to 2 o'clock to-day, and a very light vote was being cast in every precinct heard from.

The victory will be an easy one for the democrats.

There was some little watching for justices of the peace on both sides.

LOCAL TALKS.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Austrup—a daughter.

A new front is being placed in No. 4, Keystone block.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Mark P. Sheridan, of Boomstreet—a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howell, of Huntington, are visiting relatives in the city.

Adam Banack, the Broadway saloon-keeper, is lying at the point of death with consumption.

A. J. Mottram, Duluth, John P. Ramsey, Ansonia, L. K. Rucker, Leadville, Col., are at the Wayne.

John McNamara, head brakeman, and others, assisted Tucker to a drug store.

He began to grow very weak from the loss of blood, and at the direction of Drs. Kahlo and Hermann the injured man was taken to private apartments in the Barnett house.

A special train was ordered from this city to convey the wife, mother, and young daughter of the injured man to his bedside. Another train was dispatched to Elkhart for C. B. Stemen, the company surgeon, of this city, who was there on a professional visit.

The shooting caused the highest excitement at Lima, and several posses of citizens assisted the sheriff and officers in the search for the tramps.

Information from Lima this afternoon is to the effect that Mr. Tucker is resting easier, but there are grave doubts as to his recovery.

Two of the tramps have been captured and one of them was identified by the wounded man as being one of the men who held him while the shooting was done.

Should Mr. Tucker grow stronger he will be brought to his home, 305 Hanna street, this city.

AN ACT OF DEMONS.

Conductor Gardner Tucker Held a Pistol While the Contents of a Revolver are Empty—Fired Into His Body.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Gardner J. Tucker, a well known conductor on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, was shot down by tramps while in the discharge of his duty.

His injuries will in all probability prove fatal.

Yesterday Tucker bid his usual affectionate good bye to his wife and little six-year-old daughter, not dreaming for a moment that he was to become the victim of an awful tragedy before his return home, and that his family would, before many hours, be summoned to watch at his bedside as his life ebbed away.

About 4 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the third section of No. 38's east-bound through freight was pulling into the yards on the siding at Lima, O.

Conductor Tucker had been over to the depot for orders. Upon returning he saw five tramps clambering into a box car for the purpose of obtaining a ride. Faithful to his charge, he followed them into the car. As he colored them off, one of the tramps fired a revolver, and pushed Tucker out of the car. The bullet did not take effect. The tramps hastily jumped from the car on the opposite side, and Tucker followed to see that they did not board the train again. Tucker came up and wrestled the revolver from the tallest of them.

Two of the other tramps held Tucker by the arms, and while he was in this helpless condition, another cowardly assassin placed a revolver to his breast and fired, the bullet striking Tucker about three inches below the collar bone on the left side of the sternum and directly over the left lung, where the ball is supposed to have lodged.

John McNamara, head brakeman, and others, assisted Tucker to a drug store.

He began to grow very weak from the loss of blood, and at the direction of Drs. Kahlo and Hermann the injured man was taken to private apartments in the Barnett house.

A special train was ordered from this city to convey the wife, mother, and young daughter of the injured man to his bedside. Another train was dispatched to Elkhart for C. B. Stemen, the company surgeon, of this city, who was there on a professional visit.

TOWNSHIP REPUBLICANS.

The Ticket Which Will Be Submitted Under To-Day.

The convention of the republicans of Wayne township, held Saturday night at the circuit court room, was a quiet affair, and in view of the fact that the ticket which it nominated is probably snowed under, even at this writing, 11:30 a. m., and will be buried still deeper and out of sight when the polls close, no extended mention of its proceedings is necessary.

When the convention was called to order there were less than a half hundred present and part of these were democratic spectators and small boys. The small boys did not find enough interest in the proceedings to remain and when City Editor Mohler entered they left the room.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. J. W. Hayden, with Mr. E. H. Rockwall at the secretary's table. There were two candidates for trustee; Henry Hill and G. W. Morgan, and Mr. Hill was chosen. For township assessor George Motz was nominated. The meeting went on smoothly enough up to this time, but when it came to the nomination for the other offices it was difficult to find men enough to fill them, but after repeated declarations the ticket was finished as follows: Justices of the peace, Chester Seeler, H. M. Posner, T. L. Potter, Hans Newell and J. H. Tibbels; constables, John Harrigan, Jacob Gindlesberger, G. W. Brower, J. J. Bohlin and C. J. Drummond; supervisors, F. J. Baker, A. H. Barthold, John Donby, John Orchard and J. R. Downing.

A Small List.

The following deaths were reported by the undertakers for the week ending April 3:

Bridget Hauler Fitzgerald, 70 years, asthma.

Mary L. Fry, 26 years, consumption.

George Klefer, 83 years, old age.

Anna L. Hath, 55 years, Bright's disease.

C. A. Miner, 23 years, peritonitis.
